

Business Builder Program

Personal Business Coaching

Wall Street Package: Four Sessions per month

Like the fast pace of the stock market floor, this package is for the business person or entrepreneur who wants to fast track their success. Includes:

- Four, 50-minute sessions per month, conducted by phone or in person.
- Access to continued support via email or phone.
- Assistance in brainstorming ideas for business products, services and content development.

Fifth Avenue Package: Three Sessions per month

If your business or career is moving on up to bigger and better things, the Fifth Avenue package will give you the guidance you need. Includes:

- Three, 50-minute sessions per month, conducted by phone or in person.
- Access via email or phone.
- Assistance in brainstorming ideas for business products, services and content development.

Main Street Package: Two Sessions per month

Main Street may not be as chock full of business compared to Wall Street or Fifth Avenue, but it does provide a down-home feeling. This package is best for the entrepreneur or business owner who feels comfortable with their current business endeavors, but wants limited support from an effective business coach. Includes:

- Two, 50-minute sessions per month, conducted by phone.
- Limited access to support via email.

Off Broadway Package: One Session per month

If you want to stay on track and be accountable towards your goals and successes, the Off Broadway Package is ideal for you.

- One 40-minute phone conversation once a month.

Appointments will be scheduled when time is available unless otherwise determined.
